Originally called Losantiville, the city was founded in 1788, as a small river town along the banks of the Ohio River. The name was changed to Cincinnati in 1790. By the early 19th century, population growth and productivity pushed the young city into becoming one of the fastest growing U.S. cities. Today, the city is still experiencing growth and progress toward a better future for all. As you explore this gallery, we invite you to let your imagination run wild.
